There was a very full attendance, as the meeting was called to decide upon some appropriate mode of procedure to extend the compliments of the representatives of foreign countries to the procedure to extend the compliments of the representatives of foreign countries to the street, beginning at 10 a. SALUTES OTHER THAN KISSES. the representatives of foreign countries to President and Mrs. Cleveland. It was agreed that the situation was an extraordinary one. In one respect the wedding will partake of the custom of royalty, inasmuch as when an Emperor, King or Czar takes unto himself a wife the bride-elect has come to him to be married, instead of the groon going to her home, as is the custom in all other marriages. The Diplomatic Corps, however, have not been officially notified of the wedding, and at the meeting uite a number of them expressed their embarrassment at the existing condition of affairs. One proposition was that the Corps should go in a body to the White House ipon a date agreeable to the President and JOE POHERY upon a date agreeable to the President and his wife, and extend their official congratulations. The second plan was for each representative to call informally with the same object in view. The latter plan was agreed to. It is understood that the Corps feels that it has been "snubbed," and the congratulations are likely to be of the most frigid and formal character.

THE TAILOR,

THE BRIDEGROOM'S PLANS. Washington, June 2d .- It was an ounced in the dispatches on Sunday that he President would take a short wedding trip. Later information confirms this state-ment. Ex-Senator Davis of West Virginia had an interview with the President last evening. Being approached on the subject of his mission, Davis said: "The President and his wife will take a short bridal tour, you can depend on that. Just when or where they are going I am not at liberty to say." Davis has a charming cottage at Deer Park, on the crest of the Alleghanies, and it is far from improbable that the dis-tinguished couple may go there. It is re-ported that the President may take a cruise on the Potomac on the yacht Wanda. This is the vessel in which the President took a trip with Representative Scott of Pennsylvania and others a short time ago. It is a fine vessel and luxuriously fitted up and furnished, but the bride, who has just come cross the ocean, will no doubt prefer a land voyage. A LITTLE CAREWORN. The President seemed careworn when he ame into Private Secretary Lamont's office this forenoon. Mr. Cleveland was up at 5 o'clock, and received the bride-elect and her mother. The ladies were at once escorted to their rooms, where they will remain until the ceremony to-night. OUTSIDE THE WHITE HOUSE. Washington, June 2d .- Other weddings there have been at the White House—eight in all—but never before to-day has the highest dignity in the land bowed his head within its historic walls to receive the blessbonds of matrimony. From the very dawn of the approaching event. Little kno's of idlers talked it over on the sidewalks in front of the hotels, sedate marks in front of the hotels, sedate marks. streets, and bevies of laughing girls chatted and speculated about the coming moment-ous ceremony. Many were the curious glances that sought to pierce the draped windows of the White House, and numberless were the comments and speculation of the loiterers who gathered early in the afternoon within the grounds. Little or nothing in the appear-ance of the mansion or its surroundings ndicated to the casual passer-by that the nuch-talked-of event was at hand. The still and murky haze of the early forenoon had now wholly given place to clear skies and warm southerly breezes, while yellow stanting sunbeams filtered through the foliage of the park and made flickering pictures upon the velvety turf beneath. The great fountain did its best to attract attention, shooting its cooling spray to the verge of its granite basin, and flowering shrubs and forms of tropical green filled he marginal gaps in the picture. The seats in the park across the avenue were occupied by lawn-clad maidens, while half the young lovers in town, moved by the common sympathy which stirs the romantic susceptibilities of sixty millions, took winding walks in the line of their evening promenade, and speculated upon the emotions which are supposed to fill the hearts of the bride and groom. The successive arrivals of the guests were watched with interest, and their names were whispered by the more knowing ones to their companions. Suddenly the strains of the wedding march floated through the open windows, and there was a general exclamation from the outside crowd, "The service has begun!" Then there came a tantalizing hush within the walls, which was soon ended by the strains of the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin," and it was thereby known that the ceremony was over. One by one the lights sprung up at over. One by one the ights spring up at the windows, and the great burners on the portice cast their effulgence over the pave-ments. The scene resembled a summer night's festival, and the crowd gave itself up to the enjoyment of the delightful music. With short intermissions the fine orchestra rendered the following selections:

Bolero, "To Son la Rosa," Mariannisi; invitation, "A la Valse" (Weber); "Spring
Song" (Mendelssohn); romance, "Bright Star of Hope" (Robandisi); and mosaic,
"Desiree" (Sousa). ARRIVAL OF THE GUESTS. NEW YORK MARKET.

THE DECORATIONS.

The decorations of the Executive Mansion to-night were of an elaborate character, and, in the language of one of the William Cleveland (the President's brother) at his left hand. In a distinct voice, and markable meeting ever held by the Diplomatic Corps took place at the residence of Viscount Das Noumeiras, the Minister from Portugal, No. 1404 H street, beginfrom Portugal, No. 1404 H street, begin-lasting God, Father of our spirit, framer of our bodies, giver of every good and perfect girt. Thou who caust see the end from the beginning, who knowest what is best for us, thy children, and has appointed the holy rite of marriage to be sacredly observed throughout all generations; regard now, we beseech thee, thy servant, our chief magistrate; endow him plenteously with thy grace, and fill him with wisdom to walk in thy ordinances. Be very nigh to him in the midst of his many cares and grave responsibilities. Day by day may thy law direct him and thy strength uphold him, and be thou forever his sun and his shield. Be thou graciously pleased to look down upon this, thy daughter, even as thou didst favor the chosen Rebecca and many noble women that have adorned the world. May she indeed be a precious boon of good to her husband, to cheer and help him continually, a woman gifted with the beauty of the Lord, and shedding the sweetest influence of Christian life upon the nation in whose sight she is to dwell. Will thou approve what we, thy servants, come to do in thy name, by thine authority and under the laws of the land in which we live, and graciously assist them, this man and this woman, who are here to be united in the holy bands of wedlock, active to each of them thy grace, that they well and truly weigh the unfalling vows which they are now about to make to each other in the presence of this company and before Thee, and that they may be enabled hereafter, at all times, so to live together as to rejoice in the solemnization of this union, with Joy unspeakable and full of glory, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

Addressing the company, Dr. Sunderland man shall leave his father and nother, and shall cleave unto his wife, and the twain shall be one flesh. It was constituted by our Creator be one flesh. It was constituted by our Creator in the first paradise. It was confessed by patriarch and priest, prophet and apostle. It was confirmed by the teaching and adorned with the presence of the Redeemer, and has been honored by the faithful keeping of all good men and women since the world began. It is not, therefore, to be undertaken lightly or unadvisedly, but soberly, discreetly and in fear of God. Into this holy estate this man and this woman come now to enter. If any can now show just cause why they may not be lawfully united in marriage, let him now speak, or else hereafter forever hold his peace.

To the bride and groom: "If you desire to be united in marriage, you will signify the same by joining your right hands." The groom and bride joined hands. "Grover." said the minister, "Do you take this woman whom you hold by the take this woman whom you hold by the hand, to be your lawful wedded wife, to live together after God's ordinance in the holiest of wedlock? Do you promise to love her, cherish, comfort and keep her, in sickness and in health, in joy and in sorrow, and forsaking all others keep you only unto her so long as you both shall live?"

The main table decoration was a full-rigged 'three-masted ship, composed of pinks, centaurea egana, roses and pansies, displaying the word "Hymen." It rested on a mirror representing a lake, the shores of which were composed of different varieties of seloginellas and tiny pieces of coral. The sprrounding land was represented by healts.

The groom (firmly)—"I do."

THE WEDDING. The President of the United States has seen fit to marry. As a distinguished citizen, the public very naturally take and express interest in his personal affairs so ar as they relate at all to the office he fills. One of the duties of the President is to receive distinguished visitors from other pations, to entertain representatives of foreign Governments and to maintain due social state in the house provided by the nation for the purpose. A bachelor President is placed at a decided disadvantage, since a wife is essential to the proper conduct of the social side of the White House. President Cleveland should therefore be heartily congratulated by the people of the nation on naving married. And there the matter of remark properly ends, so far as the public is concerned. Unfortunately, however, there prevails in the press an idea that a vast amount of detail must be published about the President and his bride, and so for weeks we have been regaled with a rubbishing lot of absurd and silly chit-chat about Miss Folsom, her bridegroom and her movements. Yesterday morning this gossip became intolerably nauseating. It went so oing home from an early train after a visit to New York, midst the twitter of pirds and the welcoming notes of larks, the spirit of "news" rivalry has carried the press into such insipid, toadyog, and altogether silly and disgustingly be endured yet a few days. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the sssertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller blows. Just before he was seized he dropped a pistol, watch and a $20-piece. The pistol had two chambers empty. The watch was identified by P. H. Ryan as one that was stolen from his house, with a sum of money, earlier in the week. The capturers are confident that they have caught the murderer and thief.

L. L. LEWIS & CO.

"Yes, Mrs. Jones, this is the truth. Yesterday, you remember how hot it was. Well, I started a fire in my 'JEWEL' NON-EXPLOSIVE VAPOR STOVE at 6:10, and at 6:40 I had my breakfast on the table, ready to commence our meal. You say it was probably a light breakfast. Well, my dear, we had potatoes, a nice beefsteak, scrambled eggs, coffee and baked biscuit, and in cooking this meal the cost was not over two cents—not speaking of the trouble it saved me in kindling a fire, carrying wood from the basement, chopping kindling wood, taking ashes out of the stove, and then blacking the stove after each meal, which I always do. Then, again, the kitchen was just as cool and nice as if there had been no fire at all, and, oh, Mrs. Jones, at noon I cooked my dinner, and when my husband came home, hot and tired, and found our house so cool and pleasant, he was so pleased. Why, my dear, I don't see why cool and pleasant, he was so pleased. Why, my dear, I don't see why every family does not have one of these 'JEWEL' VAPOR STOVES Why $100 could not buy ours if I could not get another." The above conversation actually took place, and it shows what a treasure is in reach of every family in Sacramento.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

About 8 o'clock yesterday morning a tel-Shea, who had been acting queerly, into custody. He has been an inmate of the Insane Asylum at Stockton, and since then has at times given indications of not being in full possession of his mental faculties. He told the officers that the Commissioners of Lunacy. Shortly after Shea was arrested, a man who gave his name as J. Hope appeared at the station-house and inquired for "the boss." Officer Farren, with his customary affability, introduced himself as temporarily in that capacity, and Hope explained that some one was going to shoot him, and feared that he would be shot through a window. To defend himself, he had purchased a revolver. He is a sheepherder, and it is surmised that he read the account of the recent assassination of Mr. Stanton, in Shasta county, and it made a deep impression upon his mind. He has been sick recently and receiving treatment from a physician in the city. It was deemed best to detain him for a while, in the hope that his mental condition would improve.

Avery's attorney, to endeavor to bring about a reconciliation that would save her sister's honor and give a name to the latter's offspring.

CORROBORATING TESTIMONY.

The next witness was Mrs. Tryon, a lady who at one time employed one of the Hill girls as a domestic, and who has befriended them in their dire necessities. She said she was acquainted with the Misses Hill. She had seen Eugene Avery and Mr. Austin before, and pointed them out in Court. Mr. McGinnis, brother-in-law to the Hill sisters, called at her residence one evening and affability, introduced himself as tempora-

The defendant was finishing the last month of his college course, and this delay would injure him to an extent that could not be computed. He was of the opinion that Miss Hill did not desire to come into Court and show her hand.

The Court said he would either proceed hatchet and nailed the heel on, then threw the hatchet back, and was leaving when the owner of the premises saw and arrested him, after a chase. Judge Van Fleet said if that was all there was in the case he could not think of committing the defendant to prison. He therefore fixed Saturday next for passing sentence, and ordered that Rradford he notified to appear in Court and show her hand.

Miss Hill did not desire to come into Court and show her hand.

The Court said was leaving when the dash was leaving when the would either proceed to have anything to do with it until a certificate was issued in proper form. Avery remained upon my porch during the time McGinnis and Austin were gone for the discovery was made of the warehouses on the upper Sacramento, most of it being at Munroeville. It will license. When the discovery was made of the wrong name, I asked Mr. Avery about it, and he said that his name was H. C. Avery

The visitors were shown through the different departments of the Capitol building by the oliteness of the attaches of the place, and were so highly pleased with the appearance of the city and the attentions shown them, that they held a private meeting and delegated Colon I Needham to make a public expression of their appreciation. Accordingly, after the band had rendered several beautiful selections, T. H. Wallis, State Librarian, accompanied Colonel Needham o the stand and introduced that gentleman to the audience. In a rousing and eloquent speech of ten minutes, Colonel Needham gave his impressions of California as a State, and paid a high compliment to the Capital City. PRIVATE CORRESPONDENCE. A Lady of 65, Cured after 40 Years.

Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham: "I now sit down to inform you of the good your Vegetable Compound has done for me. I am now sixty-five years of age, and I have been troubled with the falling of the womb forty years, and have spent hundreds of dollars doctoring with different doctors but got no relief. I got discouraged and quit, and suffered on. I have taken various medicines but received no benefit. Last fall I was so bad that I employed another doctor that was recommended to me as one of the best for such complaints. I took his medicine two months but to no effect. Then I had tumors and kidney complaint very bad, and was confined to my bed. Then I saw your Compound so highly recommended that I thought I would try once more. I have taken ten bottles of your Compound and two boxes of pills, and am now able to be on my feet the most of the time. I have no bearing down pains, and can walk a mile easily. I never expect to be a sound woman, but I am so much better than I ever expected to be that I want to recommend it to any one suffering with the same complaint."—Mrs. E. A. W.
